Graduate Research Assistant

2021/09-2024/07

Center for Beijing Aging Brain Rejuvenation Initiative (BABRI) (PI: Prof. Zhanjun Zhang)

Graduate Research Project of State Key Laboratory of Cognitive Neuroscience and Learning, BNU

- Investigated the effect of hypertension duration on different cognitive domains, white matter integrity, white matter hyperintensities and white matter network using large sample data (N=1302) from BABRI.
Role: Project director, Responsibilities: Data analysis and interpretation, Manuscript drafting.
- Investigated sex differences in cognitive function and related brain structure using machine learning method.
Role: Project member, Responsibilities: Data interpretation and Manuscript drafting.
- Participated in BABRI cohort study, focusing on asymptomatic stages of dementia, aiming to identify markers, develop prevention and intervention strategies for cognitive aging and dementia.
Role: Project member, Responsibilities: Data collection and analysis.

Undergraduate Research Assistant

2017/10-2021/09

Chemical Senses and Mental Health Lab (PI: Prof. Laiquan Zou)

Undergraduate Research Project of Department of Psychology, SMU

- Investigated chemosensory anhedonia of schizophrenia patients, schizotypal individuals and healthy controls.
- Developed a new tool called Body Odor Sniffing Questionnaire (BOSQ) for evaluating individuals' prevalence of sniffing their own and others' body odor; Used the BOSQ to investigate the cultural differences of body odor sniffing behavior among the Chinese and US populations.
- Investigated the relationship between individual significance of olfaction, body odor sniffing behavior and sexual desire, and examined its cultural consistency.
- Investigated the relationship between food neophobia and schizotypal traits, and the role of chemosensory hedonic capacity in this relationship.
Role: Project director, Responsibilities: Study conceptualization, Experimental design, Data collection, analysis and interpretation, Manuscript drafting.
